The following is a July report of events in Egypt in defense of Egypt's attitude toward the Arabs.

1. Official Egyptian opinion is that the political situation in the U.S. promised not to undertake any activity resulting in revolution. With respect to peaceful activity which goes no further than discussions, the exchange of views, and the making of decisions on the future of Palestine, there is no power on earth that can prevent the Palestinian patriotic sharing it.
2. Egyptian officials feel that since the head of the Jewish Agency is permitted to spread propaganda, to collect funds, to create disturbances, to prepare armies and supply them with munitions, it is the right of the chief of Palestine to have discussions and exchange views on his country's affairs.
3. The Egyptian Government cannot prevent an Arab leader in such a high position from expressing his feelings for his country's future, especially at a time when the Arab countries wish him to preside over the Arab Federation to Jordan.
